

Intern & Volunteer Opportunity - Summer 2023

Hello,

Community Volunteer Services Tanzania (CVS-Tanzania) is a Tanga based, Tanzania, nationally registered Non-Governmental Organization with a vision of having a feminist society which is able to speak, defend and champion for their sexual and reproductive health and rights, and is productive and creating opportunities for themselves and a mission to empower young people to become agents of their sexual and reproductive health and rights change and development; and also run different international internship programmes in Tanga region, Tanzania East Africa.

The Global Health Initiative Program (GHIP) is an innovative and interdisciplinary initiative to improve community well-being while generating cutting edge knowledge about development. The Sustainable Community Development in Tanzania study abroad grows out of the GHIP initiative. Through a community engagement approach student/or intern from abroad universities will work with communities, health and educational facilities (secondary and primary schools) in Tanga region to identify, understand and address community health challenges. Through this engagement, students/interns will learn about approaches to development, theories and the history of health development in Tanzania. A participant will also gain special insight into a particular issue through their community development project.

We are encouraging students who are studying Public Health, Sociology, Community development, development studies and Nurses/or Midwifery intern students, and they will be stationing in various rural health and educational facilities in Tanga region, Tanzania.

The interested students interns/or volunteer will focus on the following themes:

- Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights information for youth and adolescent girls
- Family planning and contraceptives
- Ante natal and post Natal care
- Midwifery/Child health assessment
- Clinical services & Immunization/Vaccination programs

Application processes and all information concerning the programme are available on our website. However, for any concern, we encourage the interested students/interns to contact us directly, and we'll be ready to respond to them as soon as we can.

Address your application/ any question to the Head Programs: cvs.tanzania@gmail.com

Looking forward for your engagement and collaboration.
